

Uganda Wildlife Research and Training Institute Gears Up for 12th Graduation Ceremony

Nov.6,2024

The Uganda Wildlife Research and Training Institute (UWRTI) is thrilled to announce its 12th graduation ceremony, marking a significant milestone for the institute, its students, the wildlife and tourism sector, and community. Scheduled for November 15,2024, the event will be held at the institute, drawing distinguished guests, graduates, families, and partners in the conservation and wildlife sectors.

This year's graduation comes at a time when Uganda's role in conservation and sustainable tourism is gaining increased recognition. UWRTI has played a pivotal part in developing skilled professionals dedicated to preserving Uganda's rich biodiversity and promoting environmental sustainability. Graduates from UWRTI are equipped with both academic knowledge and practical experience to meet the demands of wildlife conservation, environmental management, and tourism development across Uganda and beyond.

The ceremony will include keynote addresses from esteemed guests and industry leaders who will share insights into the evolving wildlife sector and the role that trained professionals play in preserving natural resources. Additionally, UWRTI will recognize outstanding achievements among its graduates and acknowledge the vital contributions of faculty, partners, and staff.
